MEDICAL ENLISTED PORTAL

A joint-service activity for enlisted service members in all services active, reserve and National Guard

The Portal is Live!

Enlisted Service Members are Encouraged to Share, Vent and Learn

The "Medical Enlisted Portal" (temporary name), designed to foster communication from ranks E-1 to E-9 is now online. This portal with forum is designed especially for the professional military caregivers who provide the bulk of care in the active, reserve and National Guard military services.

Medical enlisted personnel are encouraged to use their "boots on the ground" experience to help others in the field perform more effectively and efficiently with the end result of improving overall care for the people the Military Health System serves. This Web presence is for enlisted military and is run by enlisted military members.

Upon entering the Enlisted Medical Forum for the first time, you will be asked to register by entering basic information, including a "user name." You can forever be known in the portal by your user name, or you can elect to have your entire profile accessible. No matter how much information you decide to make public, you deserve total respect as a professional in the medical services and we ask that you show others respect as a medical caregiving professional as well.

Suggestions for change and improvement for portal design, operations or content can be sent to the portal coordinator at enportal@ha.osd.mil or entered in the comments section below.

Through communication efforts such as this portal the Military Health System will continue to work with individuals in the field to make good policy and decisions.
