

Robert L. Reddick, M.S., M.D.

Dr. Reddick is the Frank M. Townsend, MD Professor and Chairman of the Department of Pathology at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio. He received his undergraduate education at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he received a Bachelor's of Science degree in chemistry. His medical training was also at UNC, and he received his medical degree in 1973. He completed residency training in pathology at UNC and the National Institutes of Health, NCI. He is board certified by the American Board of Pathology in Anatomic Pathology.

Dr. Reddick is a general surgical pathologist and specializes in breast and cardiovascular pathology. His areas of research interests include the genetic synthesis of atherosclerosis and age related pathologic abnormalities in normal and mutant rodent models. He is the author or co-author of over 100 peer-reviewed publications and has several book chapters. He has received numerous honors including a Martin Luther King Fellowship and the Sheard-Sanford Award from the American Society of Clinical Pathology, and was named the First Kenneth M. Brinkhous, M.D. Distinguished Professor at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, NC.