

Dr. Kenneth Cox

Kenneth Cox is a retired Air Force aerospace medicine specialist with extensive experience in military public health surveillance activities. He currently works as a special consultant to BG Adams, the Commanding Officer of the US Army Public Health Command (Provisional), focusing on medical informatics in support of the Behavioral and Social Health Outcomes Program. Dr. Cox is also a project scientist with the Army Study to Assess Risk and Resilience in Service Members.