

Christopher Robert Angstead, CMDCM

Command Master Chief Angstead is currently a Command Master Chief for the U.S. Marine Corps Forces, Pacific (MARFORPAC) MARFORPAC consists of 14 bases/stations and the combat power of two Marine Expeditionary Forces. He has been at this position since February of 2009. Upon completion of Special Forces Independent Duty Corpsman School, he was handselected for White House duty. During his tour at The White House Medical Unit his primary assignments included Presidential Medical Contingency Planning (foreign and domestic travels) and Emergency Medical Response liaison to the Presidents Helicopter Squadron (HMX). He has traveled worldwide in support of President and First Lady Clinton, in addition to a multitude of CONUS sites. During this tour he was promoted to Senior Chief Hospital Corpsman. Command Master Chief Angstead's military education and training include: USN Hospital Corps "A" School, USN Surface Independent Duty Corps School, USN Master Training Specialist, USMC Field Medical Services School, Advanced Cardiac Life Support, Advanced Trauma Life Support, USA Airborne School, USA Immunizations Course, USN Dive School, Advanced Shipboard Firefighter, and numerous other trainings.

Command Master Chief Angstead's awards and medals include: Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Navy/Marine Corps Commendation Medal, Joint Meritorious Unit Award, Navy Expeditionary Medal, Southwest Asia Medal, Humanitarian Service Medal, United Nations Medal, and Kuwait Liberation Medal. He also holds a Top Secret security clearance.