

Master Sergeant Joseph T. Paisley

MSG Joseph Paisley is an 18-D Special Forces medic who currently serves as a Master Sergeant at the U.S. Army Special Operations Command. Upon graduating from John McEachern High School, MSG Paisley completed a radiological emergency assistance course, as well as National Registry of Emergency Technicians Paramedic training. MSG Paisley's military education and training is extensive; he has completed Calvary Scout Advanced Individual Training, Combat Life Saver Training, and U.S. Pathfinder School. He has also participated in Warrior Leaders Courser, U.S. Army Airborne School, Basic Non Commissioned Officer Course, Department of Defense High Risk Survival Course, 82nd Airborne Divisions Jump Master Course, and Medical Management of Chemical and Biological Casualties Course. He has made multiple deployments as a combat medic support of combat operations in Iraq and Afghanistan.

MSG Paisley has completed the following United States Army John Fitzgerald Kennedy Special Warfare Center and School courses: Special Forces Medical Sergeants Course, Russian Language Course, Military Free Fall Course, Advanced Non Commissioned Officer Course, and Dive Medical Technician Course.