

Jeremy Kekoa Torrissi, HMC

HMC Torrissi is currently assigned to Marine Special Operations Command, Marine Special Operations School, Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

HMS Torrissi has had extensive experience as a Special Operations Combat Medic in deployed settings. These deployments include attachment in 2005 to the 3rd Recon Battalion in Fallujah, Iraq; attachment to the Marine Special Operations Company Fox deployed to Jalabad, Afghanistan in 2007 and a year later to the Marine Special Operations Company Hotel deployed to Farah, Afghanistan. His most current deployment was in 2010 when he served with the Marine Special Operations Company Hotel, deployed to Herat, Afghanistan.

Since entering active duty in 1994 HMC Torrissi's assignments include duty at the Naval Hospitals in Groton, Connecticut and Naples, Italy as well as attachment to a number of Marine Units to include the 2nd Marine Division, 2nd Reconnaissance Battalion, Camp Lejeune, NC, the 3rd Marine Division, 3rd Reconnaissance Battalion, Camp Schwab, Okinawa, Japan, and the Marine Special Operations Command, 2nd Marine Special Operations Battalion, Camp Lejeune, NC and his current assignment at the Marine Special Operations Command .

HMC Torrissi is the recipient of the Purple Heart; the Silver Star; five Navy/Marine Corps Achievement Medals, one with "V" Device for valor; two Combat Action Ribbons; five Good Conduct Medals; Marine Special Operations Command Senior Sailor of the Year (2008); and Marine Special Operations Command Medic of the Year (2008).